The ACCA Qualification

WHAT IS THE ACCA QUALIFICATION?

The Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA) is the world's fastest-growing gateway to the accountancy profession, helping people to become successful accountancy professionals. Its global reputation is so strong that it now has over 200,000 members and 436,000 students in 180 countries.

ACCA Members can also sign and practice in South Africa like SAICA members. Learn more here.

The ACCA Qualification is at the core of our range of qualifications. It comprises:

- Exams – 13 exams (you may be able to claim up to nine exemptions depending on your previous studies). Check if you qualify to claim exemptions: www.accaglobal.com/pk/en/help/exemptions- calculator.html
- Ethics – an online Ethics and Professional Skills module
- Experience – 13 performance objectives that must be achieved in the workplace over a period of at least three years. Learn more about ACCA PER. www.accaglobal.com/gb/en/student/practical- experience-per.html

The ACCA Qualification is best suited to those who have achieved a minimum level of educational achievement, including:

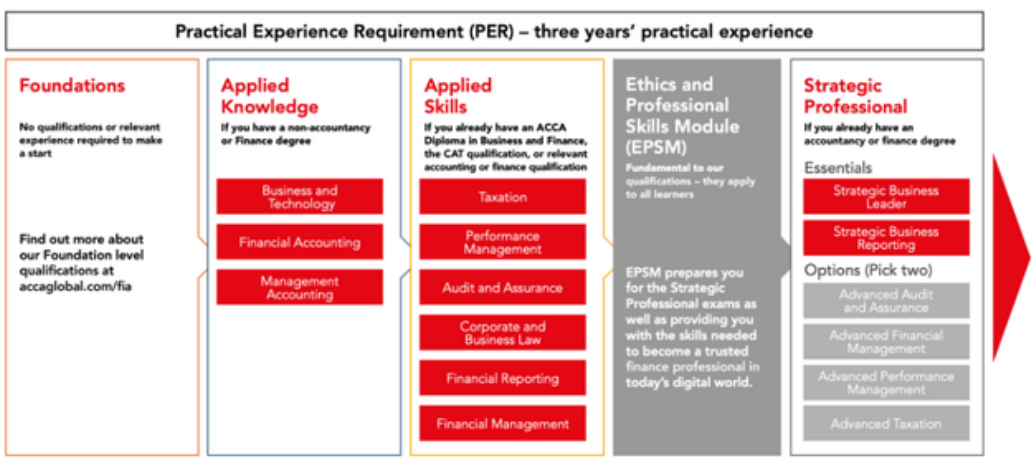

- A Levels (or equivalent)
- first degrees from recognised institutions - check the ACCA Exemptions Calculator
- the Certified Accounting Technician qualification
- the ACCA Diploma in Accounting and Business from the suite of qualifications
- other recognised qualifications - check the ACCA Exemptions Calculator: www.accaglobal.com/pk/
- en/help/exemptions-calculator.html

THE ACCA QUALIFICATION STRUCTURE

The ACCA Qualification has three stages of Exams, plus an Ethics and Professional Skills module and Professional Experience Requirement.

ACCA awards certificates on the completion of certain exams within the ACCA Qualification and Foundation-level qualifications

The certificates are official documents and can be downloaded at any time from myACCA.

Strategic Business Leader Classes!

Our SBL course is designed around 3phases.This full package (with 3 phases below) cost R1 4400

1. PRE-READING PHASE

This phase starts as soon as you enrol for the course and received our pre-reading material. The goal of this phase is to help you become familiar with the 5 comprehensive case studies to help apply the full SBL exam competencies during the tuition phase. You will need to come very prepared to benefit most from the course!

2. TUITION PHASE

This comprises 4 - 5 Contact weekend sessions (4hrs) during this phase everything will be reviewed during the pre-reading phase to teach the full SBL syllabus at a very high level as required to succeed at the final exam. The 5 case studies combined, have been written to be of immediate relevance in teaching the 9 core SBL examinable competencies: leadership; governance; strategy; risk; technology and data analytics; organisational control and audit; finance in planning and decision-making; innovation, performance, excellence and change management; and professional skills.

3. EXAM PREPARATION (REVISION) PHASE

directed by CharterQuest. It starts with a Progress Test, designed to assess your integrative, broad and high-level understanding of the 9 core SBL examinable competencies, whilst introducing the ACCA's SBL marking grid (technical versus professional skills). The focus of this phase is to build your exam techniques by attempting a series of mock exams -and debriefing the model answers, with a determined focus on the marking grid. We delve deeper into how to earn technical marks versus professional marks, how to build an answer, and sharing with you insights from several webinars held with the chief examiners of the new SBL module in relation to how marks are earned and allocated. This phase ends with final mock exam, a 4-hour exam standard exam which you write under exam conditions, and it is marked and debriefed in our final contact session.
